

Dividend Select

FACTSHEET | 2018 | Q3

$100,000 MINIMUM INVESTMENT

INVESTMENT APPROACH

The Dividend Select portfolio seeks to outperform the S&P 500 over normal market cycles on a total return basis through exposure to higher yielding dividend stocks and the potential of capital appreciation.

The portfolio consists of 30 equally-weighted S&P 500 stocks that offer potentially higher than average dividend yields while using quantitative metrics to attempt to increase the quality of dividend payments. Dividend-paying companies are often more stable due to their consistent return of capital to shareholders.

KEY PORTFOLIO ATTRIBUTES

Importance of Dividends

Since 1871, reinvested dividends account for about 49% of total return from the S&P 500, making dividends a key source of total capital appreciation.*

Disciplined Investing

Quantitative rules mitigate emotional decisions from influencing long-term returns.

Portfolio Concentration

Strategy designed to potentially reduce company-specific risk while maintaining the ability to realize non-market driven returns.

Annual Rebalancing

Rebalancing and reallocation occurs annually to potentially allow for long-term capital gains while systematically buying low and selling high.

Regular Attention

Regular analysis and research on the strategy ensures portfolio adheres to model rules.
