Portfolio performance is calculated and derived from our internal proprietary systems and return figures are shown net of management fees and internal expenses. All investment strategies have the potential for profit or loss. Changes in investment strategies, contributions or withdrawals may cause the performance results of your portfolio to differ materially from the reported composite performance. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and there can be no assurance that any specific investment will either be suitable or profitable for a client's investment portfolio.

Diversification and asset allocation help you spread risk throughout your portfolio, so investments that do poorly may be balanced by others that do relatively better. Neither diversification nor asset allocation can ensure a profit or protect against a loss.

Economic factors, market conditions, and investment strategies will affect the performance of any portfolio and there are no assurances that it will match or outperform any particular benchmark. An investor should consider their Model Portfolio's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing or sending money. Some clients of AIS experience different performance results than the model portfolio due to unique situations including cash distribution requirements, unique non-model holdings, and additional situations particular to an individual client.

The "Model Portfolios" listed above represent a fictional account which AIS attempts to manage in a manner similar to that of a tax-exempt client fund with no particular need for special portfolio considerations. AIS' management fees are described in Part 2A of AIS's Form ADV.
